About cookies

Cookies are small files that remember what you enter when you visit a website.

At SMARTY, we use cookies to keep track of what products you've selected, and to remember you – so we can show you relevant stuff when you return to our site.

Cookies can't harm your computer. We may use encrypted information gathered from cookies to help improve your online experience with us.

To order products on online you need to have cookies enabled on your web browser. Most have cookies enabled – visit our managing cookies section if you need any help. To disable cookies you can manage them using our OneTrust Preference Centre or on your browser (take a look at aboutcookies.org), although you won't be able to enjoy all the features of our website

Our Cookies Policy
To make full use of smarty.co.uk, your computer will need to accept cookies, as we can only provide you with certain, personalised features of our website by using them.

Our cookies hold the 'key' that, once you're signed in, is associated with your information. This is also true of any cookies that we use in your online account. If you'd prefer to restrict, block or delete cookies from our or any other website, you can manage them using our OneTrust Preference Centre (see above) or use your browser to do this.

Our OneTrust Preference Centre contains the list of the cookies we use, and what we use them for.
Using 'share' tools on our website
If you use any of our 'share' tools to share our content with friends via social networks, you may be sent cookies from these websites. We don't control the settings of these cookies, so it's worth checking the third-party websites for more information.
